

GENERAL MARTIN TAKES LABOR AS TOPIC FOR SPEECH

Tells Rochester Audience He Believes In The Right of Labor To Organize

ATTACKS JOHN L. LEWIS

Says Lewis is Interested Only In Getting Dues From Farmers

ROCHESTER, Pa., Apr. 17.—Speaking before a Republican gathering here last night, General Edward Martin, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, took labor as his topic.

"I believe 100 percent in Labor's right to organize and in the principle of collective bargaining. I think it is the right of the working man to receive all of the benefits of that system of selling his labor."

Martin then vigorously criticized the attempt of John L. Lewis to unionize Pennsylvania farmers.

"Blunderingly and stubbornly that beetle-browed opportunist has fought our war effort at every step of the way," he said. "This very moment, right here in Pennsylvania this man Lewis is engaged in an effort to unionize Pennsylvania farmers."

"He has embarked on that new project on a Nationwide scale. Why? To help them? Bunk! Because he wants their dues. That is the real reason. Because he wants to restore, by using the farmers of Pennsylvania as his 'front men' and stooges, the political power he lost through his anti-war tactics."

General Martin's address in full follows:

"My fellow Pennsylvanians:

"Tonight I want to talk to you about Labor. Do not misunderstand me—I do not mean that I want to talk only to Labor as a group. I mean that I would like to speak with every man and woman in the Commonwealth about Labor—I would like to think that within the sound of my voice tonight are working men and women, who comprise what we know as Labor with a capital L, as well as employers, big and little, the farmer, the so-called White-collar worker, housewives, every type of citizen among our ten million people."

"In our peaceful past those groups—the farmer, the big business man, the little business man, the consumer—were inclined to each set themselves apart as a special sector of the general public, with special grievances peculiar to their lot in life, and seeking special privileges which for some reason or another they seemed to feel were their special right."

"Those days are gone. Today we are at war. We face a common danger. We will lose our war unless we unite. Our slogan must be that of the Three Musketeers—all for one—and one for all. The employer must work with the laboring man. The white collar worker must pull with both. The farmer must feed them all. There is not a man or woman in Pennsylvania today who must not do his or her share in our deliverance."

"I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of Pennsylvania. Therefore it is your right to know and my duty to tell you how I stand on every question that may arise in the next four years. Tonight I am going to give you my ideas and my principles on what we call the labor question. I can do so very briefly."

"I believe 100 percent in Labor's right to organize and in the principle of collective bargaining. I think it is the right of the working man to receive all of the benefits of that system of selling his labor. I believe that any NEWPORTVILLE, Apr. 17.—The Cheerful Workers, together with other organizations of the Sunday School of Newportville Community Church, arranged a miscellaneous shower for Mr. and Mrs. William Clapp, Newtown, in the church on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. John Lewis, as chairman, took charge. Group singing was enjoyed. Miss Jacquelin Ingraham favored with a piano solo, and Miss Naomi Lowrie rendered a vocal solo. A large wedding cake adorned the bride's table. The color scheme was pink and yellow, the favors being made of cellophane in those colors.

Raymond Perente asked the blessing. C. Burnley White was master of ceremonies.

BUCKS PUPILS INVEST $85,333 IN WAR STAMPS

Purchase That Amount of Bonds and Stamps, Directors Are Told

DOYLESTOWN SESSION

DOYLESTOWN, Apr. 17.—Albert C. Rutter, assistant superintendent of Bucks County schools, in addressing the spring conference of Bucks County school directors on Tuesday afternoon, informed that the public school pupils of the county have purchased $85,333.30 worth of U. S. war bonds and stamps.

Mr. Rutter, speaking to 200 men and women, representing every school district in the county, said the children in the public schools in the county have purchased $58,915.50 in Victory Bonds and $26,417.80 in U. S. Defense Stamps.

County superintendent Charles H. Boehm warned the school directors about the emergencies and hardships the war will bring for them to solve.

Touling on the issue of senior classes travelling to Washington, D. C., the County Superintendent said he feels that is a matter for the local school boards to decide.

"This year it may work a hardship on you, but it is a problem for you to face and next year, I'm sure, you will not be thinking of having the seniors visit Washington," Mr. Boehm said.

He announced that the annual spelling contest will be eliminated because of the transportation and tire problems.

The county superintendent pointed out emphatically that with tire rationing will come stringent rules regarding the use of school buses.

Although he wasn't able to set the exact date when it goes into effect, the county superintendent asked the directors to make all possible plans to co-operate with the Federal government when the war time rationing books are distributed.

The O. P. A. has said it will take 15 minutes to register one person, and for each additional member in that family another three minutes. The oath must be read to each individual who receives a rationing book.

"There are 110,000 people in Bucks County and approximately 360,000 forms must be accounted for until the entire process is complete, so you can see what we are up against," said Mr. Boehm.

Reporting on the scarcity of labor for the farm, Mr. Boehm said schools have arranged for at least 200 boys in the Morrisville and Falls township

HEALTH WORKERS INFORMED OF PLANS FOR BUCKS COUNTY

Dr. Allen Moore Outlines The Problems That May Arise In Case of Disaster

MISS HUBBARD SPEAKS

Tells Group at Doylestown of The Great Need For More Nurses

DOYLESTOWN, Apr. 17.—The Council of Social and Health Workers of Bucks County conducted a dinner meeting in the Doylestown Inn, last evening, with 40 in attendance.

Dr. Allen Moore, medical director of Bucks Co. Council of Defense, spoke to the group, giving plans for medical work in the county in case of disaster. He told of the problems to be expected in connection with influx of evacuees from other counties; of the problem with increase of social diseases and of crime; and of care of any injured.

The speaker informed that the U. S. Public Health Service may eventually take over all medical work of the defense council. Among information given was that Bucks County has five permanent hospitals; and during an emergency these would be asked to care not only for their usual patients but in addition many evacuees from nearby cities. He told that there are 55 emergency hospital stations designated in the county; and told of the amount donated for the medical supplies of the county in case of an emergency.

"Bucks County is considered better organized in this respect than any county in the United States," he added, but continued by telling of the need for advancement even in this county.

Miss Ruth Hubbard, director of Visiting Nurses Society of Philadelphia, told of the shortage of nurses, mentioning that the armed forces are calling for 800 to 900 per month; with the need also being stressed for hospitals and homes. "For the first time in the history of the United States," she added "the government is giving grants to certain well-organized hospitals, so they can present adequate instruction to train more workers."

Those in attendance from Bristol at the Doylestown meeting were: Mrs. Louise Lohr, Miss Nora Jones, Mrs. Minerva Epstein and Mrs. Marie Holland; and from Morrisville, Mrs. William Burgess and Miss Laura Koch.

One Man's Opinion By WALTER KIERNAN (I. N. S. Staff Writer)

LaGuardia to Landis to McNutt to oblivion.

Quietly the division of physical fitness of the Federal Security Administration passed away; no flowers, no music.

Friends may view the emaciated body in Philadelphia.

The remains have been shipped there.

One day the physical fitness division was a gay, lusty corps of code ball co-ordinators, bean bag co-ordinators, interpretative dancers and horseshoe pitchers.

The next there was just Jack Kelly and two assistants enroute to Philadelphia, the only city in the nation apparently where the entire population is in need of building up.

Or it could be that the skeleton went with Mr. Kelly to Philadelphia because he lives there.

We can expect great things out of Philadelphia from now on—chesty females, mountain-muscled males all trained the OCD way, whatever it is.

Thought for the day: Don't laugh, boys—they're groaning in Pa.

URGES ATTENDANCE OF LAY MEMBERS AT DIST CONVENTION

President of Eastern District, Missouri Synod, Speaks At Croydon Conference

REV. KRAUS' ESSAY

Continues On Closing Day With Paper on "Inspiration Of The Bible"

CROYDON, Apr. 17.—The closing session of the Philadelphia Circuit Lutheran Pastoral Conference, meeting in St. Luke's Lutheran Church, here, was held yesterday morning. After the usual brief devotional service led by the chairman, the Rev. E. Kraus, and the reading of the minutes by the secretary, the Rev. T. Fisher, the reports of committees and other items of business were taken up. The president of the Eastern District of the Missouri Synod, Lutheran Church, the Rev. Paul Fretthold of North Tonawanda, N. Y., was then given the floor. He spoke about the coming district convention which is to be held in York June 22 to 26, and urged that the various congregations send not only their pastors and teachers, but also the best qualified lay members available.

The essay of the Rev. Kraus on the inspiration of the Bible, which had been begun the day before, was again taken up for discussion. The question as to whether the Bible is reliable also when it speaks on history or geography or science, as for example, in the account of the creation of the world, was answered in a definitely positive way. "Since God is the Author of the Bible there is not a single word in either Old or New Testament that is not absolutely true," stated the essayist. "The burden of proof lies with those who would deny the verbal inspiration of the Bible," was stated on the floor of the conference. The district president made the remark: "The proof of the pudding lies in the eating thereof, and likewise the Bible proves itself to be the inspired Word of God to anyone who will carefully read its pages himself instead of relying on the opinions of others."

Immediately before closing time three phonograph records were played on which the new Lutheran liturgical service had been recorded.

Conference closed its sessions with prayer and benediction, whereupon the final noon-day luncheon was enjoyed in the church basement. At this luncheon a representative of the conference, the Rev. C. Wypich, of Scranton, expressed deep gratitude to the members of St. Luke's Ladies Aid who had so faithfully and well provided the meals. The speaker was introduced by the pastor of the church, the Rev. T. Kohlmeier, and the chairman of the conference.

The women who served in the kitchen and at the tables were Mrs. A. Foerster, Mrs. R. Findlay, Mrs. M. Hughes, Mrs. N. Hughes, Mrs. H. Johnson, Mrs. F. Kindt, Mrs. H. Koehler, Mrs. C. Croft, Mrs. H. Pluma, Mrs. J. Renetta, Mrs. J. Sabol, Mrs. H. Trindle. In addition to these, a number of other women gave assistance and showed co-operation by donations of money and baked goods and by providing lodging for a few of the visiting pastors.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

"Unfinished Business"

Washington, April 16. ONE of the strange things about Washington is the way in which large plans are launched and then dropped.

Sometimes they are weeks in preparation before they utterly disappear. Surveys are made of situations and recommendations laid upon the President's desk. That is the end of a lot of them.

NO one knows whether they were discarded because they turned out to be impracticable or just because they were distasteful. All that is certain is that they are not heard of again. There have been a number of such disappearances in recent months. For example, early in March the White House let it be known through various selected sources that the President was much dissatisfied with the quality of our propaganda. It was not "ringing the bell" and there seemed a necessity for a general overhauling with a view of devising a better system. It needed, it was said, "co-ordination" and single-headed direction.

THIS had been pretty plain to most observers for some time. There are at least four separate organizations engaged in the business of propaganda. Each has its own headquarters, a large organization and a big pay roll. Each is pouring out a steady stream of radio speeches and skits and exuding pamphlets, leaflets, "information" and publicity in various and sundry forms. Combined, they have been spending a lot of money, but the contention is that the results are meager and the whole business is being done in an ineffectual and sloppy manner.

AT least, that was the idea back of a strong personal plea addressed to the President a month or so ago by a group of literary men and

ADVERTISING SERVICES

Advertising—and newspaper advertising in particular—is doing a great job in the United States in this war. Newspaper advertising has never drifted into a rut, and it is not in a rut now.

Proof of this is found in the circumstance that newspaper advertisements are more interesting today than ever in the past. Proof of the indispensability of newspaper advertising is found in the fact that large advertisers whose plants have been diverted almost entirely to war work continue to advertise. Although they may have little to offer the consumer now, they know that after the war there will be a volume of business to fill civilian needs that will be unprecedented in history.

And that is why they advertise
now—to keep their names and their products before the public in preparation for the great days ahead.

This is only one of the services newspaper advertising is rendering in these times. Its service in keeping the consumer informed of changes in the normal supply of all articles and services that comprise the long list of human wants is invaluable and could not be duplicated by any other medium.

Large stores in the great cities,
though their stocks may be depleted
and replacement uncertain, continue to advertise in the newspapers as heavily as ever. They use the newspapers as never before to keep the public informed of developments on the civilian supply front—of new goods that are available, and at what price. They know that in time of unusual occurrence newspaper advertisements are read even more avidly than in periods of national complacency.

The want ad, too, is serving in the war. Help wanted notices, of course, are more numerous than at any time since the last war. But for sale ads listing everything under the sun also have taken a spurt as many new articles have been placed under wartime ban. So, too, have want ads seeking various articles and goods
not readily obtainable.

Yes, newspaper advertising is doing a great job in this war. If it were not for this medium, wartime restrictions would prove more onerous.

PROSPECT FOR WOMEN

An idea of what this country
faces merely in the training of war workers if the war lasts several years more may be gathered from the statement of Dr. Evan Davies, a British educational leader now in the United States.

Doctor Davies says British technical colleges—130 of them—have trained hundreds of thousands of war workers in the last two years and the full needs of the armed forces for technicians have been met.
Now, he says, the technical colleges
are training only women.

A long war will mean that American experience will be similar. More and more American women are already being absorbed in war industry. As time goes on, they may be assured that eventually they will be called upon to take a major role in the production of munitions.

Voluntary technical courses now
will preclude the need for compulsory training later.

Peace time work is from sun to sun, but war preparation work is never done, appears to be what Donald Nelson is trying to say. Not until forty hours have been put in, it isn't done for that week.

The Great Game of Politics

women, among whom were some of his most ardent admirers. As individuals whose trade is "words" he they pointed out to Mr. Roosevelt the feebleness and futility of the American propaganda and besought

him to effect a general reorganization under a single head. They even went so far as to recommend the man to him—a radio commentator of national reputation. The suggestion was that he be made Minister of Information in charge of all propaganda and publicity.

BUT in advance of the plea of the literary ladies and gentlemen, Mr.
Roosevelt had moved in that direction in the same way and with the same man he has so often used before for similar purposes. He asked his friend, Judge Sam Rosenman,
of New York, to survey the whole situation and make a report. Judge Rosenman spent days doing the surveying. He dug into the facts and he asked advice confidentially of quite a number of detached persons. And there is reason to believe his recommendations were for a unification of all the propaganda agencies under one man.

FOR the sake of a greatly needed improvement, it is unfortunate that it became known the judge was out with his old surveying instruments.
But it did get known. It was even printed in the papers. In consequence, quite a number of those who would be affected by a reorganization under one head began an energetic campaign designed to frustrate his recommendations.
They used the same technique with which the entrenched jobholder has always resisted the periodical economy and retrenchment drives.

THE result is that the Rosenman recommendations have gone the way of so many others. They have been received, noted and filed away
under the head of "unfinished business." Apparently, all the judge's work on this subject has gone for nothing. The best information is that the reorganization has been indefinitely postponed. So far as propaganda is concerned, it is said,
things will remain as they were,
with everybody going his own way
and the whole vital business enveloped in a thick cloud of confusion.

EVEN the plan to recognize the Donovan organization as an essential part of the military machine and move it, with Colonel Donovan still in charge, into the War Department, has made no recent progress, though the logic for the transfer is exceedingly strong.
Presumably, when Colonel Donovan recovers from his recent automobile accident efforts to move along this line will be renewed.

BUT the other information and propaganda agencies will remain
uncoordinated and undisturbed.

They will proceed in their customary bumble puppy fashion and while no one, including some of the men at the top of these agencies, will be satisfied, nothing is likely to be done about it. The important fact, of course, is that this means lost opportunity to use effectively a very potent weapon for winning the war, but, incidentally, it is pretty tough on Judge Rosenman, the surveyor. However, the judge does not much mind. This sort of thing has happened to him more than once in the past.

Private Robert W. Shemeley, Eaton-
town, N. J., and Miss Julia Tomesani, Mill street, spent Monday in Red Bank, N. J., with relatives.

HULMEVILLE

A nominating committee was named
by president, Mrs. Joseph Mucklow, when the Parent-Teacher Association held its April session in the school house on Wednesday evening. The committee is made up of Charles Herman, Mrs. Robert Brien, Sr., and Mrs.
C. Wesley Haefer. Having the largest percentage of parent representation, grades seven and eight will have the gold fish in their room for the next month. Membership in the county, state and national Congresses of Parents and Teachers is to be retained.
Miss Mildred Carson, school nurse, outlined briefly a plan for dental work
among the pupils next term, when a dental hygienist will visit the schools.
Refreshments were served by Mrs.
Samuel Brehaut, and Mrs. Madison
Day. A reel of Red Cross motion pictures was shown.

Miss Margaret Diegel presided when the Methodist Epworth League met on Wednesday evening in the church social hall. Tentative plans were made for the quarterly social of the church groups to be held this month, at which time it is hoped to show some reels
of motion pictures. Refreshment committee for the evening consisted of the Misses Jean Odgers, Muriel Hornickel,
and Margaret Diegel.

Woman Physician in Exile Will Address Club Members

Dr. Deutsch, a woman physician in exile from Czechoslovakia, will be the guest speaker on Thursday evening next, when the Junior Travel Club members entertain women of The Bristol Travel Club. The affair will take place in the Travel Club home at eight o'clock.

Dr. Deutsch will have as her subject "My Life as a District Nurse in Newfoundland."

The scheduled speaker came to the United States in 1940. She graduated as a medical doctor from the University of Prague; and during the summer months of the years 1926 to 1938 she practiced medicine as a specialist for internal diseases at the famous health resort of Marienbad, being the only woman doctor there. She is at present preparing to secure a medical license in Pennsylvania.

Today's Quiet Moment

(By the Rev. James R. Galley)

Pastor, Bristol Presbyterian Church

Give unto us patience, O God. Sometimes we are prone to complain about the disappointments of life, about the postponements, about the failures, about the crosses we must bear, about the pain that ravages our bodies, about the reduced activity which is imposed upon us for our own blessing. Open our eyes, O Father, that we might see these things in their true perspective, and that we might see behind all things the hand of a loving God and Father Who is guiding the destinies of His people. Impress upon us the fact that "all things work together for good to them that Love the Lord!" Give us that Love, through Jesus Christ Thy Son, Amen.

RITZ THEATRE

Hollywood's finest juvenile talent, headed by Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland, arrived at the Ritz Theatre in the new M-G-M musical, "Babes On Broadway," and the result is something to shout about.

Both Rooney and Miss Garland have shown their song-and-dance talent in such musical pictures as "Babes in Arms" and "Strike Up the Band," but apparently they were only warming up in these earlier productions.

ON THE SCREENS

BRISTOL THEATRE

Joe E. Brown returns to the Bristol Theatre today in "Shut My Big Mouth," howling new laugh-fest with Adele Mara, Victor Jory and Joan Woodbury. A laugh-loaded story of a gun-shy tenderfoot in the wild and woolly west, "Shut My Big Mouth" was directed by Charles Barton.

Bob Livingston, Bob Steele and Rufe Davis are characterized as the Three Mesquiteers in the Bristol Theatre's current western, "Gangs of Sonora."

GRAND THEATRE

Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn pool their respective talents in "Woman of the Year," which opened at the Grand Theatre yesterday. The story was chosen by Miss Hepburn with the stipulation that Tracy be her co-star. Accordingly, it was to be assumed that the plot would avoid formula, and it definitely does.

With Miss Hepburn appearing as a brilliant newspaper columnist in the title role, Tracy is sports editor on the same metropolitan daily. They clash

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

SWELL "SADDLES": Teeners insist upon red rubber soles when it comes to saddle shoes, but such soles are becoming very scarce. However, Snellenburgs are fortunate in having ordered ahead, and so are able to give us a grand special in red-soled saddles of white-and-brown combination during this, their "Snellenburg Week" sale. These well-made shoes are actually priced downward, $3.49 instead of $3.95. The real elk leather is washable. If a girl doesn't insist upon wearing the shoes fashionably dirty, (1st fl. Shoe Dept.)

VAIN? Have you seen that Millinery Dept. on Snellenburg's 1st fl.? That shop has a city-wide reputation. It's almost an invariable rule that this department's hats look half again or twice the price. For "Snellenburg Week" there is now offered a $1.49 of white-and-brown combination group of hats known as "face-framing flatterers." They have graceful, large brims. Other swank styles, too, which will win you. Browse about. You'll buy.

SHOOT YOUR FRIENDS! And get away with it, too. Buy a real Candid Camera. Even though such cameras are increasingly hard to get, during this famous "Snellenburg Week" they are offered at $3.49 instead of $6.95, the regular value. Reason? Model is being discontinued. What a chance! If you want a "synchro-nized flash" attachment, it can be bought separately. Cameras measure 5"x2 1/4"x1 3/16", weigh 19 1/2 ozs. Quick-loading, hinged-back, extra film compartment; 3-speed shutter. A grand gift to oneself or another. Can be ordered sight unseen. I assure you. Camera Dept. (3rd fl.)

SINS COVERED! An attractive spring coat certainly can cover a multitude of sartorial sins. When you can get a beauty for $18 instead of the regular prices of a group usually selling for $19.95 to $25, it's time to shop pronto. No matter what your type, you'll find the very coat to fit it. Every coat is a brand-new fashion, from box models to fitted lines. All kinds of smarter materials. Sports numbers or dressy coats of fine twills and soft crepes. You'll love them. Each garment labeled for fabric content. A "Snellenburg Week" offering is this. So hurry! Juniors', Misses' and Women's Depts., 2nd fl.

SEW YOUR OWN: I go berserk every spring when I find myself in Snellenburg's famous Yard Goods Dept. This week, "Snellenburg Week," I want to buy yards and yards! Do you wonder, when, for the celebration of "Snellenburg Week," the shop offers real Crown-Tested rayon crepe prints, in over 200 patterns, at 59c instead of 79c? Besides, consider beautiful Bemberg and Du Pont triple sheers in new, airy designs, 39 ins. wide, at 84c instead of $1. Top this off with exquisite washable rayon printed shantungs at 88c instead of $1.29—and many other reductions! (2nd fl.)

HEIRLOOM WORK: It is surprising how many people are doing needlepoint these days. Some of us don't knit well. We drop too many stitches, and we find needlepoint so much simpler. Pieces of it make the handsomest of gifts, no matter how small. There are pieces for tiny door-stops, purses, table and cushion covers, chair seats and even piano bench cushions, I believe. During "Snellenburg Week" the shop's Art Needlework Dept. (4th fl.) is selling a charming group of pieces—the central designs finished and you fill in the backgrounds—for 89c instead of $1. The moth-proof yarn is specially priced at 20c a skein instead of 25c. Go ahead, start something lovely and lasting right now. The shop folks will instruct you.

WONDERFUL SALE! Here's a sale I wait and pray for—specially priced dresses on Snellenburg's 2nd fl.—throughout the dress sections for juniors, misses and women. This time it's a "Snellenburg Week" sale and you'll have to hurry. Dresses of every description, which are ordinarily sold for $9.95 to $13.95, can be had for $8.88. You'll have to step lively, as I think the sale ends this week. No matter what type dress you want, you're sure to find it at a saving.

DURATION PLAY TOGS! They're sweet, the new play togs to be found in the "Girls' Dept. on Snellenburg's 2nd fl. And are they practical? They are! Shirts, shorts and jenkins in surf blue denim and only—believe it or not—$1.09 and $1.25 each. The garments have attractive stripes much on the blazer variety. You're missing something if you don't buy the girls several. Sizes all the way from 8 to 14. (A "Snellenburg Week" offering.)

Cheerio, friends. Let me know how many good buys you really do make this fine opportunity time at this good shop. I'd love to hear! Faithfully, FAITH.

BRISTOL HIGH CINDERMEN SWEEP SEVEN FIRST PLACES ON 10-EVENT PROGRAM AT LANGHORNE TRACK

Bristol High School's cindermen "got the feel" of the track yesterday afternoon at Langhorne. By sweeping seven first places on the ten event program, the Cardinals made merry in sliding through to a 55 to 35 triumph. Joe Sagolia and Paul Ruby scored double victories for the homesters. The former annexed the 100 and 220 yard dashes, while the latter came through as expected in the shot put and high jump. Pete Miller, who hadn't given track much of a thought up till yesterday, stepped in and tried his hand at tossing the discus. The result was a heave of over 100 feet that added five markers to the Bunnies' total.

Keith Rosser and "Army" Capriotti were the other two Bristol winners. Rosser ran a commendable quarter mile for his first stab of the season and Capriotti continued his mastery in the pole vault. For Langhorne, Bill Paul took the half mile, Johnny Miller won the mile and Bill Cloak leaped to a first place in the broad jump. It was the first track meet of the season for both squads.

Summary:
100 yard dash—J. Sagolia, Bristol; S. Sagolia, Bristol; Ruby, Bristol, 12.4.
220 yard dash—J. Sagolia, Bristol; S. Sagolia, Bristol; Rosser, Bristol, 24.9.
440 yard dash—Rosser, Bristol; Simpson, Langhorne; Hammond, Langhorne, 58.5.
880 yard dash—Paul, Langhorne; Jones, Langhorne; DiLorenzo, Bristol, 2.22.
1 mile—J. Miller, Langhorne; Goheen, Bristol; Mando, Bristol, 5.09.
Shot put—Ruby, Bristol; Capriotti, Bristol; Sodano, Langhorne, 41' 2 1/2".
Discus—P. Miller, Bristol; Cloak, Langhorne; Flannery, Langhorne, 168' 8".
Pole vault—Capriotti, Bristol; Flannery, Langhorne; Riebel, Bristol, 10' 4".
High jump—Ruby, Bristol; R. Cloak, Langhorne; W. Cloak, Langhorne, 5' 1".

Bristol Woman Leaves Estate To Her Niece Here

The widow, Louise Snyder, will inherit the $50 personal and $2500 real estate holdings, including an 81-acre farm in Haycock township, of Edgar Snyder, Haycock township.

Upon the death of the widow, three children, Adie and Clarence Snyder and Pearl Frick will be the heirs. The widow, Quakertown, R. D. 3, and Harry W. Weierbach, Pleasant Valley, were named the executors.

A sister, Jannetta M. Headley, of Newtown, was bequeathed the $450 personal and 50 acres of real estate of William S. Margerum, Falls township. In case the sister is no longer living, the estate will be inherited by William Headley, Maud H. Clark and Mary H. Brower.

Two sisters, Bertha Stout and Annie M. Banes, will share the $2,486.99 estate of Mary A. Devoe, Bensalem township, with the exception of one bequest of $100 to Julia L. D. Tice which the testatrix stipulated should be given to her "for her sole use." Julia L. D. Tice, 212 Walnut street, Bristol, was named the executor. The will was written March 7, 1934, and the testatrix died March 7.

The widow, Carrie K. Cressman, was named the beneficiary of the $400 personal and $9,000 real estate holdings left by her husband, Horace S. Cressman, New Britain township. The real estate included a store and apartment at 36 Tennis avenue, Ambler, and a house at 424 Chestnut street, Lansdale. The widow, Carrie K. Cressman, of Line Lexington, and Carlton K. Cressman, a son, of Upper Darby, were named executors.

In the estate of Harry B. Stead, Morrisville, letters of administration were granted to the widow, Laura Stead, amounting to a personal estate of $716 and real estate at 135 Delaware avenue, Morrisville.

A sister, Agatha F. Royall, Ocean Harbor, East Boothbay, Maine, will inherit the $7,000 personal estate of Edna F. Anderson, Middletown township. Letters of administration were granted to the First National Bank & Trust Company of Newtown.

For kindnesses extended to him and to show his gratitude for personal services, a Wrightstown man, George Herbst, named his physician, Dr. Thomas E. Lindsay, of Richboro, the beneficiary of his residuary real and personal estate.

The testator, who died March 9th, and left a personal estate of $8,000 and real estate valued at $1500, bequeathed less than $1,000 to friends and a relative, leaving the majority of the estate to the physician.

The real estate includes six acres in Wrightstown township. The will was executed November 12, 1941, in which the testator described Dr. Lindsay, who was also named the executor, as "his faithful friend."

Three individual beneficiaries include Mrs. Beatrice Stier, 7706 Watson street, Philadelphia, $300; Mrs. Charles McEwen, Newtown, $200; Mrs. Anna Setina, 1532 Sixty-eighth avenue, Oak Lane, a relative, and Peter Herbst, 720 Green avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., a nephew, each $200.

PERSONAL NOTES

Sunday School Class of Bristol Methodist Church, taught by Mrs. William Mohr, met Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Dorothy Case, Beaver Road. Miss Case and Mrs. Harold Hunter were hostesses. Plans were made for the mother and daughter banquet to be held in May. A social hour was enjoyed, and an auction sale netted a neat sum. Refreshments were served to 15.

areas to work at nearby vegetable farms.

"There are too many children in the fifth and sixth grades in the county schools and they are kept sitting in school, when they should be out working, because they cannot adapt themselves to the academic schedule," Mr. Boehm said.

"At a time like this, it is important that these boys and girls, many of whom are from the rural sections, do all they can to assist in the problem of a labor shortage on the farm."

Declaring that when it comes to assessments nobody bothers about what you do in your own district, Elmer Osenbach, Allentown assessor, speaking on "Assessments and Valuations of Real Estate," said: "Value after all is merely an opinion of what a particular thing is worth."

The Allentown assessor pointed out that most school districts are paying between $20 and $30 more to educate a child than they are receiving on the assessed valuation of each home.

He explained that the Federal and State governments, which are reaching farther and farther out, take about 25 per cent of the local revenue.

"Seventy per cent of the people in your county can not afford because of the expense involved in taking it to court to have their assessments reduced."

"Those fortunate 30 per cent for whom the assessments are too high and who have property holdings large enough can afford to take it to court and fight it and then it is still an opinion on some one's part."

Assessor Osenbach, who feels Allentown has one of the fairest systems in the country, said only two states—the second largest and one of the smallest—in the United States do not have State Tax Commissions or Equalization Boards.

"Those two states are Pennsylvania and Delaware and I like the term Equalization Board better than State Tax Commission," Mr. Osenbach said.

Commenting on assessments, Walter S. Miller, Middletown township, who presided, said: "The average assessment in Bucks county, excluding the boroughs, borders on the line of disgrace."

President Miller announced that the Fall conference will be held in sectional meetings with the first on October 21st at Quakertown in the evening, and on October 28th at Newtown in the evening.

An election held at the morning session resulted in the following being elected to the Bucks County School Board: First vice-president, Howard Kooker, Quakertown; treasurer, Walter M. Carwithen, Sr., of town; secretary, Mrs. Grace H. Naylor, Wycombe; auditor, Dr. Adolf Berg, Pebble Hill; representative to the State Legislative Council, Wallace J. Growney, Bridgetown township.

President Walter S. Miller, of Parkland, and second vice-president, Walter Solly, Ivyland, were not up for reelection, and will continue to serve until their terms expire.

General Martin Takes Labor As Topic for His Speech

legislation designed to curb the right of the worker to strike is un-American. As Governor of Pennsylvania I will oppose such legislation with every resource at my command. I think I've put that plainly enough to insure that there is no quibbling about it.

"Two-thirds of the drive and wall-op and reach and power of American strength comes because our men and women are free men and free women living under a system of free enterprise. Hitler and Mussolini and the dwarf war lords of Japan drive their workers to their machines. Their labor is slave labor—forced labor of conquered peoples.

"Free Americans can out-work and will out-fight the slave nations. That is why I am opposed to any attempt, even in war time, to chain our workers by law to their lathes and drills and plows and machines.

"But as the demand for labor rises, there rises with it a racketeering group who see in the situation a chance for personal profit and political gain. That always has been the case in times of industrial prosperity or in times like the present, when industry is called upon to produce vast quantities in desperate haste.

"I am going to say to you very frankly that I class the war-time labor racketeer with the Quislings and the Copperheads. In times of peace and prosperity, it was evil enough for the labor racketeer to extract ill-gotten gains by deceitful double-dealing. In time of war, a man who foments unrest for personal gain commits a high crime, for today that will cost the lives of thousands of our boys. The labor racketeer must be dealt with sternly and finally.

"I am not generalizing. I will give you a specific case in point. It is that of John L. Lewis. Blundering and stubbornly that beetle-browed opportunist has fought our war effort at every step of the way. He, as other men with political ambitions have done and are doing now, pretends to speak for labor. Do YOU think labor is opposed to the war effort, or wants to hinder it? You know perfectly well that is not true.

"Then how does this arrogant obstructionist pretend that his voice is labor's voice? How does he dare pretend that his raucous bellow echoes from the throats of millions of sincere, honest, hard-working, patriotic American men and women?

"This very moment, right here in Pennsylvania, this man Lewis is engaged in an effort to unionize Pennsylvania farmers. He has embarked on that new project on a nationwide scale. Why? To help them? Bunk! Because he wants their dues. That is the real reason. Because he wants their dues and wants to restore, by using the farmers of Pennsylvania as his 'front men' and stooges, the political power he lost through his anti-war tactics.

"In Michigan and New York, and now in Pennsylvania and elsewhere, he is gathering in farmers. Into what? Into his own personal United Mine Workers union. Why does he want farmers in a mine workers union? Because he wants to replenish the treasury of the United Mine Workers union so he can milk it some more—for more millions—for his personal, political slush fund.

"In what is known as the New York milk shed, he is trying to put into operation a plan to restrict sales of milk to dairy farmers who will pay him off. He has announced he will blacklist those who won't. All right. Suppose he were successful. Where would he wind up? Why, he'd be the food dictator of America.

"His levied tribute would be added to the cost of every pint of milk you buy, to every egg you eat, to every bit of farm produce on your table and in the worker's dinner pail.

"And this man calls himself a leader of labor! Shades of Samuel Gompers and John Mitchell! There, ladies and gentlemen, were labor leaders. They worked for the worker. They fought for collective bargaining—and won. They fought for shorter hours—and won. They fought for beneficial labor legislation—and won.

"They fought for the working man because they loved the working man and believed in his cause—not to fatten their own purses and build their own political juggernauts and advance their own personal ambitions.

"Men and women of Pennsylvania, we are at war. Our boys have gone off to fight. Some are wounded. Some are prisoners. Some are dying. Some are dead. All are in peril and danger. We can't let those boys down by cringing and cowering before the hungry avarice and cruel cupidity of a little group of rich racketeers who want to be still richer.

"Now let me say a word to the more than two million five hundred thousand of you who are industrial workers in Pennsylvania—especially those who are paying for the benefits of union membership. Let me remind you of what may happen if you let yourselves be fooled by the golden promises these racket henchmen will glibly give to lure you on.

"They spread disunity. They foster unrest. They cause strife between Americans whose minds should be on nothing on earth save winning this war. A people disunited, a people disturbed, a people fighting among themselves cannot win a war. Such a people divided has never won any war. And with all the solemnity I can summon—I want to say to you that unless we are a united people, we cannot and we will not win this war into which we now are plunged.

"And if we lose the war, then what of labor? What of labor's gains? What of all the fine goals labor has won over the past few decades? What of them? Why they'll vanish from the face of the earth. They'll disappear like a ship that goes over the horizon. And they'll never come back again.

"You doubt that? Look at France today. Are there labor unions there? Have the French workers, in the thrall of the Nazi, any rights? Have they any gains? Have they anything? No! They're serfs and slaves. They dare not call their poor souls their own. And that's exactly, ladies and gentlemen, where the American worker would be—and will be—if the Nazis conquer us.

"Now let's take a look at how the Nazis conquered and enslaved other nations—the Poles, the Norwegians, the Czechs, the Serbs, the Greeks, the Austrians. It wasn't very difficult. The technique was always the same. They spread unrest, and discontent. And then they struck a nation weak and divided. Their Quisling termites ate away the sturdy foundations of unity and then the Nazi wrecking crew knocked away the weakened underpinning.

"And I want to tell you, people of Pennsylvania, that same thing can happen here. When a nation is at war, any man who fosters unrest and discontent and internal strife is a Quisling. He is next door to a traitor. The man who puts his own selfish personal interest ahead of that of his country in her hour of need is not fit to call himself a citizen, much less a patriot.

"Don't listen to a siren song. Let me plead with you, beg of you, to close your ears to the mumbing voice of the racket crew, the furtive whisper that would spread a civil war more deadly than the awful carnage of Spain.

"There are Fifth Columnists. The President has said there are Sixth Columnists, too. Now I tell you there are Seventh Columnists—those who, protected by their affiliations, spread discord among us, slow up our war effort, put brakes on the wheels of our production, and array one group of us against another at a time when we are all pulling together at the oars of the same lifeboat.

"Stamp out the Fifth Columnists. You are all trying to do that. Stifle the Sixth Columnists. You know that would be a signal service to your fighting nation, and to those boys of ours on the fighting fronts. And just as important, just as vital, just as imperative to our success in this war—trample under foot and silence for the duration these deadly and insidious Seventh Columnists who are spreading their poison among us.

"We can win this war. Pulling together, working together, united, afield and on the farm and in the factory, no nation or combination of nations can lick us. But divided among ourselves, discontent, seething with inward strife—then, ladies and gentlemen, we can lick ourselves.

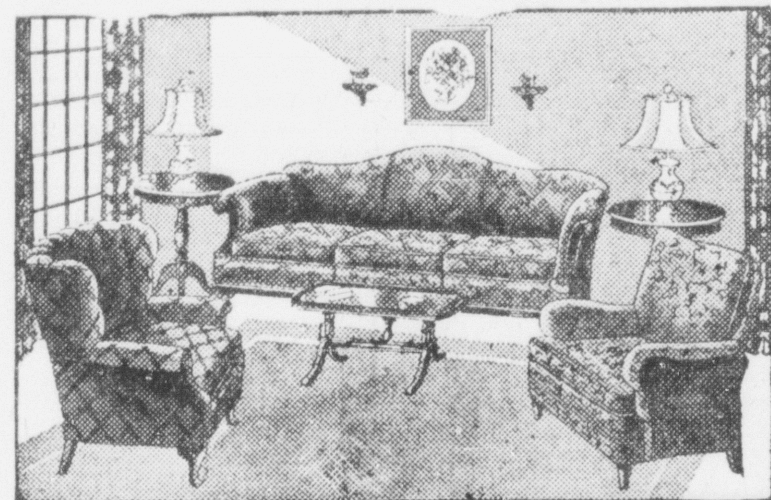

"Which way will you choose? I know your answer. And let us all thank God that your answer will be what it is. For that way lies victory, and the perpetuation of our American way of life.

"I thank you."

Germany Throws Reserves Into Russian Front

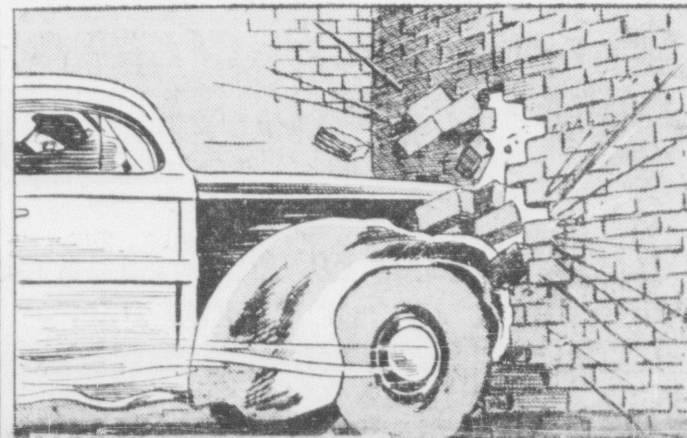

Moscow—Germany is throwing in an increasing number of reserves in preparation for a large-scale offensive on the Russian front, the Moscow radio reported today.

Dispatches received in London said that Adolf Hitler had rushed General Field Marshal Walter von Braunschweig to the Russian front. Von Braunschweig, commander-in-chief of the German armies until Hitler assumed the post himself, was reported to have gone to the Bryansk sector because of the serious threat to German forces in that area. Two more localities were said to have been taken by the Russians on that front after the German garrisons were annihilated.

(The London Evening Standard picked up an Algiers broadcast quoting Stockholm reports to the effect that fierce fighting is raging along the Vyazma-Smolensk railroad. Soviet troops were said to have pierced the German lines at several points, while Russian advance troops reached the approaches of Smolensk.)

The last German division billeted in Yugoslavia was said by the Russians to have been withdrawn and hurried to a sector on the Soviet front.
